News Letter

ROTARY TONIGHT

Rotarians, with high-school scholars and their families, enjoyed a fine meal of crab cakes with potatoes and creamed spinach (quite good, actually) and topped off by a great dessert featuring pastries and chocolate-covered strawberries. If you weren't here tonight, you missed a good one.

The 50-50 was won by Larry Moyer. The amount is unknown, but couldn't have been more than a couple of thousand.

Stephanie Seidner reminded us that Lansdale Day is fast approaching on June 5th. She showed off the beautiful, eye-catching posters advertising the day and received spontaneous applause for their appeal. Posters and postcards are available for display at your place of business to spread the awareness of our biggest fund raiser of the year to the public. Raffle tickets, sponsored by Pat McMenamin, are available for sale, with prizes of $750, $100, and $50.

Tonight's program was the annual honoring of outstanding students from 3 local high schools: North Penn, Lansdale Catholic, and Christopher Dock. Each school selects an outstanding senior boy and girl, and they are honored here, along with their families, for their academic achievement and community activities. After their respective faculty representatives introduced the students and reviewed their accomplishments, and the honorees had said a few words, Mayor Andy presented each student with a certificate and check. I'm sure those of us who attended were universally impressed by the depth of their service commitment and their scholastic and leadership abilities, and were left to wonder, as I did, "How do these kids find the time and energy to do all of this?" The students honored, and their college plans were: from Christopher Dock, Evan Kratz (Eastern University) and Emma Ruth (Goshen College); from Lansdale Catholic, Jessica Cunning (Penn State) and Jason Halberstadt (Elizabethtown College); and from North Penn, Brett Prestia (William and Mary) and Melissa Walters (Delaware Valley College).

That's all for tonight...

Super Doc
